Civil Rights Activism – Sign Design

Social movements often use signs to convey a message. Civil rights activists would create signs to be used as part of demonstrations or acts of civil disobedience. Think of a message that means something to you and create your own sign.

Materials Needed:

- Paper
- Markers, crayons, or colored pencils

What to do:

1. Think about an important message you would like to share with others.
2. Write your message on your sign.
3. Color and decorate as much as you like.
4. Display your sign for others to see!

Share your craft!
